This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

It is gratifying to me, at last, to issue to the subscribers the final pages of the Church Heraldry of Norfolk, and in so doing I have to offer them my apologies for the delay, which has been caused by many insurmountable obstacles.

I have to crave indulgence for some few errors, more especially to be found in the earlier pages of the work, and which have become apparent during the ten years I have been collecting the materials, and passing it through the press. I have often regretted that, throughout the work, I did not add to its usefulness by reference to the mass of information contained in the MSS. in the British Museum, but this would, at the same time, have added greatly to the cost of its production, and increased its bulk. I hope it may prove of use to the heraldic and genealogical student of my own county; and that it may be a sort of foundation for both a Norfolk Armory and an Ordinary of Armorials. If such be the case, my labours will not have been in vain.

The most pleasing task yet remains—that of recording my deep sense of gratitude to all who have in any way helped me, and surely, beyond all, to my sister, who, in spite of feeble health, has given months of patient labour to the production of the delicate pen and ink drawings, which form the greater part of the illustrations of this work; to Mr. A. E. Rump, the printer, whose kindness, patience, and general fund of information, have rendered the task of revising the proofs a much less difficult one to me than it might otherwise have been; and finally, to all those who have assisted me with donations towards the cost of illustrating the book: to Lord Amherst of Hackney, Mr. C. H. Athill, Mr. E. M. Beloe, the Rev. C. G. R. Birch, General Bulwer, Mr. A. R. Chamberlin, Mr. J. J. Colman, M.P., Mr. J. S. Earle, Miss Berney Ficklin, Mr. R. T. Gurdon, Mr. R. H. Gurney, Mr. Somerville Gurney, Mr. J. B. T. Hales, Dr. R. T. Hales, Miss Horatia A. Holley, the Rev. W. Hudson, Dr. Jay, Sir Kenneth Kemp, Mr. Lacey, Mr. H. Lee Warner, Mr. Hamon le Strange, the Rev. C. R. Manning, Dr. A. R. Manby, Mr. Frederick Methold, Mr. James Mottram, Mr. F. Danby Palmer, Sir Charles H. S. Rich, and Lord Walsingham.

Thanks are also due to Mr. G. A. King, of Norwich, for valued help in drawing some coats of arms and verifying a few details.

The corps of Katherine Cremer theres interred
Whose Soul unto a Kingdom is preferr'd.
In gifts of Nature, Grace, she did excel,
As steps to Glory, wherein now she dwell;
A Saint made perfect with her Lord and Head,
Waiting his second Coming for the Dead.

This Blessed Gentlewoman was the eldest Daughter of M[r] William Taylor of Burnham, Merchant, the prudent wife of M[r] Henry Cremer of Lynn, Customer, who lived together XX years in mutual Joy and Comfort, having born unto him seven Sons and three Daughters, she finished a happy Course in 39 years, and fell asleep in the Lord the 8[th] of October, 1647.

Sleep in the Dust of Earth (which could not sting)
Till then a glorious Rising, here to sing
Alleluias unto God, who'll raise this Dust
To Right-hand place, and joys among the Just;
Pure was thy Name, thy Practice also pure,
Thy just Remembrance promis'd to endure.
(Honoris ergo). This is graven for View,
Such Honour to the Saints is but their Due:
Who being Dead to us
Yet speaks by Pattern thus:
Walk Virtues Path, seek Gifts of Grace
By frequent meeting in this Place,
Check Sin with Thoughts of Death and Doom,
In Life think of the World to come,
Fear God; let Life's be Virtue's Story,
That Death may bring a Crown of Glory.

ST. NICHOLAS, LYNN.

THE Monument to THOMAS GREENE and SUSANNA HIS WIFE, deserves description.

Thomas Greene died on 16th August, 1675 (during his mayoralty). His widow gave the monument, and it was erected in her lifetime: see the last line of the inscription. The sculpture is of very high quality: the face of the lady, so stern and yet so comely, is like a Rembrandt in stone. Every detail is attended to, the lace on the kerchief over her head is beautifully wrought, as is the collar of her husband. The same care is taken with the hands and drapery of both. The monument is coloured: the cushions are green, his aldermanic gown scarlet, and her dress is black. The widow Susanna Greene also gave, in the year 1676, a green altar cloth to St. Nicholas, which is still preserved in the vestry of the chapel.

VI. (Obliterated.) From the coat of arms on a hatchment:— Or, a double fret sable; on a chief of the second, three pierced mullets of the first (Fuller. The coat attributed to the family of Fulleshurst, co. Chester, is "Gules, fretty or; on a chief argent two mullets pierced sable"; and the coat of Huntingdon is somewhat similar, "Argent, a fret sable; on a chief per fesse sable and gules, three mullets on the upper part or."—Harl. MSS. 1404, fol. 109.) Crest: A griffin's head, wings endorsed, couped argent.

"M. S. Samuelis Fuller, Armigeri, qui hujus Burgi bis ballivus, dein Prætor, et ad memorabilem illum anno 1688 Conventum multaque inde Parlimenta missus hinc burgensis. Egregie ubique, Justicia, prudentia pietatis, monumenta reliquit. Ex Rosa, Ricardi Huntington, armig. filia, hic juxta posita, Samuelem, Elizam, Joannem, Mariam, Ricardum, Rosam, suscepit liberos. In quibus Samuel ejusdem burgi Aldermannus, Ricardus, LL.D., in foro admiralli advocatus generalis, Et Elizabetha, parentum ad latera, requiescunt. Obiit 19 Maii, 1721, annum agens 75mum." D. T. S. R. has another "Richard Fuller who died 1770, Aged 60." He also gives further information:—"Samuel Fuller married Rose, daughter of Richard Huntington, Esq., and his son Samuel Fuller married Elizabeth, daughter of John and Sarah Fowle, daughter of Sir George England." There are evidently other memorials in this church with shields of arms, for one is mentioned having thereon Fuller impaling Fowle (Argent, a chevron gules; on a chief of the last three mullets of the first.—Ch. Her. I. 115.)

VII. Monument in the North Chancel Aisle, with Three raised Shields.

1. (At the top). A chevron nebulée between three birds (Crowmer or Cromer of Gt. Yarmouth, granted and confirmed 24th April, 1494; Gold, a chevron engrailed, voided silver and azure, betwixt three crows sable.—Norf. Archy. ii. 39.) Crest: It is gone, but was doubtless "A crow."
2. On the side of the tomb, Crowmer. The "chevron" here is simply "engrailed," impaling, Per chevron; in chief eight crosses pattée (Wiltshire of Stone, co. Kent, Per chevron, azure and argent; in chief eight crosses pattée or.)
3. A merchant's mark.

There is no inscription. It is, without doubt, for Robert Crowmer, Bailiff of Gt. Yarmouth nine times between 1470 and 1497, who married Joan, daughter of John Wiltshire. This latter information we have on the undisputed authority of Weever's Funeral Monuments, where amongst the burials in Yarmouth Church, is given that of "Jone, the daughter of John Wilshere, and wife to Robert Cromer."

Nos. CXXX. to CLVII. are ancient, the rest modern. See Norf. Archy. ii. 149, from which the following notes are taken:—

CXXX. The Emblem of the Trinity, with text.

CXXXI. Or, an eagle displayed, with two heads, sable, The Empire.

This shield, following that of the Trinity, and preceding that of Edward III., takes a position which this imperial coat always possesses in point of precedency with the arms of European sovereigns. This is the only instance of such a sequence in the churches of Norfolk, though we have the coat on the porch at Cley, quartered with the Royal arms of England, for Richard II. and his wife Anne of Bohemia (Vol. II. 380); again, we have it in a window at Earsham (Vol. I. 11); and once more on the roof of what was the chancel in the church of St. Helen, Norwich (Vol. III. 66.)

CXXXII. Quarterly:—1 and 4, Azure, semée of fleurs-de-lis or, France, ancient; 2 and 3, Gules, three lions passant guardant in pale or, England.

For "Edward III., who succeeded to the crown of England in 1327, introduced the French arms into the first quarter of the Royal shield in 1340, and died 21st June, 1377."

CXXXIII. Quarterly:—1 and 4, France, ancient; 2 and 3, England; with a label of three argent, Edward, Prince of Wales.

For "Edward, Prince of Wales, commonly called the Black Prince. He was eldest son of Edward III. and Phillipa his wife; was born 15th June, 1330, and died 8th June, 1376." On his tomb in Canterbury Cathedral are two especial escutcheons, one of which bears the same coat as we have here, with the word "Houmant" above it, and the other "Three ostrich feathers, two and one, each with a scroll, thereon the words "Ich diene," the same motto being above the escutcheon as on the scroll: the one "pur la guerre," the other "pur la paix." The one which he used in his equipment for war, the other in the lists and in chivalrous exercises of arms. See Stanley's Memorials of Canterbury, where the will of the Black Prince is given and explained.

CXXXIV. Quarterly:—1 and 4, France, ancient; 2 and 3, England; with a label of three ermine, John of Gaunt.

For "John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, 4th son of King Edward III., born at Gaunt in Flanders 1340, Knight of the Garter 1360, created Duke of Lancaster 37 Edward III. He died 3rd February, 1399, and was buried in St. Paul's Cathedral."

CXXXV. Quarterly:—1 and 4, France, ancient; 2 and 3, England; with a label of three argent, each point charged with two torteaux (Edmund of Langley. There should be "three torteaux on each point of the label.")

For "Edmund of Langley, 9th son of Edward III. and Philippa his wife. He was born in 1341 at King's Langley in Hertfordshire; in the 50th Edward III. he was constituted Constable of Dover Castle, and Warden of the Cinque Ports. Elected Knight of the Garter 34 Edward III., and created Earl of Cambridge in the 36th year of that sovereign's reign. In 9 Rich. II. he was created Duke of York: he died August 1, 1402, 3 Henry IV., and was buried in the priory at Langley, the tomb being removed into Langley Church at the dissolution, where it still remains."

CXXXVI. Quarterly:—1 and 4, France, ancient; 2 and 3, England; a bordure argent, Thomas of Woodstock.

For "Thomas of Woodstock, Duke of Gloucester, 7th and youngest son of Edward III. and Phillippa of Hainault. Born at Woodstock in 1355-1356, created Earl of Buckingham 1 Rich. II., and Duke of Gloucester in the 9th year of that king's reign, was elected Knight of the Garter in 1380, and murdered at Calais in September, 1397, the 21st of Rich. II."

CXXXVII. Quarterly:—1 and 4, France, ancient; 2 and 3, England; a label of five points, the first three argent, each charged with two ermine spots, the remaining two points azure, each charged with two fleurs-de-lis or (John, Duke of Bedford. The label is usually "Per pale ermine and azure, semée of fleurs-de-lis or." See Papworth, 852.)

For "John of Lancaster, Duke of Bedford, Regent of France, 3rd son of King Henry IV., elected Knight of the Garter on the death of Edward of Langley in 1402, died without issue in 1435. The arms of the Duke of Bedford in Yarmouth Church may be considered as one of the latest in existence in which the ancient arms of France could have been borne by the Prince of the royal house, as it is supposed that when Henry, Prince of Wales, 6 Henry IV., assumed the 'three fleurs-de-lis only' his royal brothers followed his example."

CXXXVIII. England, with a label of five points argent (Brotherton. The label is usually of "three points" only.)

For "Thomas of Brotherton, Earl of Norfolk, 5th son of King Edward I. He died without issue male in 1338; but he left two daughters, the eldest of whom, Margaret, was created Duchess of Norfolk for life. She was married first to John, Lord Segrave, through whom she became the ancestress of the Mowbrays and Howards, Dukes of Norfolk."

CXXXIX. Quarterly, argent and gules, the second and third quarters fretty or, over all a bend sable; a bordure azure, charged with fifteen mitres or, Spencer.

For Henry Spencer, otherwise Le Spencer, or Despencer, consecrated Bishop of Norwich in 1370, and died in 1406. He was grandson of Hugh le Despencer, Earl of Gloucester, by Eleanor, daughter of Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester, and Joan de Acres his wife, who was daughter of Edward I. It is extremely probable that he was living when this shield was placed on the roof of the aisle. If so, and such fact being taken conjunctively with the omission of the shield of Lionel of Antwerp, the Duke of Clarence, 3rd son of Edward III., who died in 1368, and the assumption by the Duke of Bedford, on his father's death, of a label similar to that borne by his father, the Duke of Lancaster, who died in 1399, the date of the ceiling may be assumed as 1399-1405.

CXL. Argent, a lion rampant sable, crowned or, Morley.

For Sir Thomas de Morley, K.G., Baron Morley, summoned to Parliament from 5 Richard II. to 4 Henry V., and who died in 1416. He was son of William de Morley, Baron Morley, by Cecily his wife, daughter of Thomas Lord Bardolf, and grandson of Sir Robert de Morley, Baron Morley, who was at the siege of Calais with Edward III. According to Bl. Norf. ii. 436, he married Joan Gournay; but according to the pedigree in the College of Arms his first wife was Anne, daughter of Edward, Lord Spencer, and widow of Sir Hugh Hastings; a second wife is also ascribed to him, who is merely called Anne.

CXLI. Gules; seven escallops, three, three, and one, argent, Scales.

For "Robert, Lord Scales, who married Elizabeth, the daughter of William, Lord Bardolf, summoned to Parliament from 20 Richard II.—3 Henry IV. He died in 1402."

CXLII. Quarterly, or and azure; on a bend gules three crosses botonnée or (Sir John Fastolf, K.G. See No. XXVII. There can be no doubt but that Sir John Fastolf, K.G., bore the "crosses" and not the "escallops" on the bend, an escutcheon thus charged adorning the chimney-piece at Caister Castle.)

For "Sir John Fastolf, K.G. He was born in the year 1380, and for a time was ward of the great John, Duke of Bedford, 3rd son of Henry IV. He married Milicent, 2nd daughter and coheir of Robert Tibetot (Tiptoft), afterwards Sir Robert Tibetot, son of Sir John Tibetot by Margaret his wife, daughter of Giles, Lord Badlesmere, widow of Sir Stephen Scroop. This Milicent died before her husband and without issue. Sir John Fastolf, K.G., died on November 6, 1459, Aged near 80 years."

CXLIII. Quarterly, or and azure, on a bend gules three escallops argent, Fastolf of Norfolk and Suffolk. See No. XXVIII. This coat is quartered by several Norfolk families, Wodehouses, Jenneys, and Southwells.

CXLIV. Azure, three cinquefoils or, Bardolf.

For "Thomas, Lord Bardolf, who died in 1404. Elizabeth his sister married Robert, Lord Scales, as before mentioned. William, son and heir of William, Lord Bardolf, married Julian, daughter and heiress of Hugh de Gournay, and thus became possessed of the manor of 'Caister-Bardolf,' as it was afterwards called."

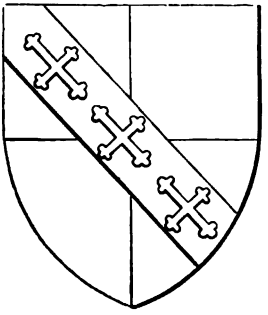
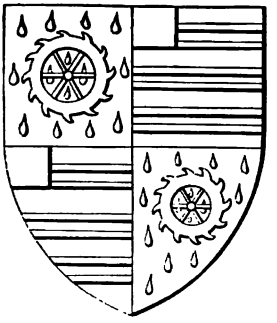
DE BOYS AND FASTOLF.

CXLII.



SIR JOHN FASTOLF.

CLIV.



DE BOYS AND BUCKTON.

SHIELDS ON THE ROOF OF THE SOUTH AISLE, ST. NICHOLAS' CHURCH, GT. YARMOUTH.

CXLV. Sable, three bars gemelles, and a canton argent (Buckton, Buketon, or Beketon. It is considered quite certain that this is the family represented, for the same coat is on the Cornwallis monument at Brome, co. Suffolk, and in the pedigree of the family it is said to represent a marriage with Buckton.)

In 1308 Hugh de Beketon, a merchant of Yarmouth, complained to the king that his goods had been piratically seized in the ports of Normandy. In 1338 Richard de Beketon was one of the Bailiffs of Yarmouth, after which the name appears continually on the lists of Bailiffs, Mayors, and Members of Parliament for Yarmouth, till John Beketon served as Bailiff for the last time in 1403.

CXLVI. Buckton, impaling Fastolf of Norfolk and Suffolk. See No. CXLIII.

There is no pedigree of the family of Buckton, and not a reliable one of Fastolf; this marriage is not therefore identified.

CXLVII. Sable, guttée d'eau, a Catherine wheel (De Boys? Sable, a wheel argent, between three guttées d'eau. This is the coat of Jo. de Boys, as on a roll of arms, temp. Edward I.)

The above is the only identification which has been attempted, but it does not seem at all satisfactory, seeing that there are altogether five shields on the roof bearing this remarkable coat by itself, and not once is the name mentioned on a list of Bailiffs or Mayors during the latter half of the fourteenth and the beginning of the fifteenth centuries. In the absence of pedigrees, it is quite impossible to arrive at any definite conclusion.

CXLVIII. to CLI. De Boys? Same as No. CXLVII.

CLII. De Boys? impaling, Chequy or and gules, on a fesse sable three martlets argent (Thorpe. This was certainly the coat belonging to a family of that name in Norfolk during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries.)

Bartholomew de Thorpe was Bailiff of Yarmouth in 1324, and many times during the next twenty years. John de Thorpe was Bailiff in 1353 and 1358. Thomas de Thorpe in 1460, after which the name does not occur again. The objection referred to with regard to the De Boys? coat, will not hold good here. The name of Thorpe does not certainly occur in the Yarmouth lists, just when the aisle roof was painted, but the coat would not have been there at all, undoubtedly, were it not to record the marriage with the family, who bore "the Catherine wheel."

CLIII. De Boys? impaling Falstolf.

CLIV. Quarterly :—1 and 4, De Boys? 2 and 3, Buckton.

CLVII. Argent, a cross engrailed gules (Gurney or Gournay. This shield was discovered blank, and thus emblazoned at the restoration.)

"This family received from William the Conqueror the manor of Caister next Yarmouth, and held it till, by marriage, it passed to the family of Bardolf."—Per. of Yarm. i. 91, 92. See No. CXLIV.

CLVIII. England, with a label of three points azure, charged with fleurs-de-lis of the second, Henry, Duke of Lancaster. See No. CXXXVII.

"Anthony de Beck, cousin of Anthony de Beck, Bishop of Durham, and Thomas, Bishop of St. David's and afterwards Lincoln; was made Bishop of Norwich 1337, and died 1343, and is buried in the Cathedral."—Bl. Norf. iii. 504, 505, 506.

CLXI. Sable, three crescents ermine; a bordure engrailed or, Bateman.

"William Bateman was son of William Bateman of Norwich and Margery his wife; made Bishop of Norwich 1343, died at Avignon in 1352."—Bl. Norf. iii. 506, 513.

CLXII. Or, a lion rampant azure, armed and langued gules; a bordure engrailed of the second, charged with mitres of the field, Percy, Bishop of Norwich.

"Thomas Percy, brother of Henry Percy, Earl of Northumberland, was, at the request of Henry, Duke of Lancaster, made Bishop of Norwich in 1355. He died at his Manor of Blofield in 1369, and was buried in the Cathedral."—Bl. Norf. iii. 514, 515.

CLXIII. Gules, a fesse between six martlets or; a label of three argent (Beauchamp, and with the label for Sir John Beauchamp.)

The family of Beauchamp was one much connected with the county, more especially at the latter end of the fourteenth century. They owned the manors of Necton (in the church of which one of them at least lies buried), and also those of Saham and Ashill.

CLXIV. Gules, a lion rampant, argent, armed and langued azure, Mowbray.

This family were Dukes of Norfolk in succession to the Brothertons.

CLXV. Gules, a bend between six cross-crosslets fitchée argent, Howard.

This family succeeded, by marriage, to the Dukedom of Norfolk, and have held it ever since.

CLXVI. Sable, a fesse between two chevrons or, Gerbege, Gerberge, Gerbridge, Gerbrigge, or Jerbridge.

This family was intimately connected with Yarmouth, taking their name from a bridge over the river Yar, Ger, or Jer. They owned the manor of Wickhampton, in the parish church of which there is a fine monument to one of them, Sir William Gerbrigge.—See Bl. Norf. xi. 135-137.

CLXVII. Paston. See Nos. I. and XVIII.

The Paston family were long connected with Yarmouth. Sir John Paston was appointed by Sir John Fastolf one of his executors.

CLXVIII. Argent, on a fesse azure three eagles displayed or, Clere of Ormesby.

The family of Clere claimed to have been at Ormesby, near Yarmouth, as early as 1284, where they remained till Sir John Clere was killed in the Orkney Islands in 1557.—Bl. Norf. xi. 234-238.

CLXIX. Wodehouse. See No. LXXVIII.

CLXX. Ermine, a bend gules, cotised or, Jenney.

This is an old Suffolk family, who were seated for many years at Knoddishall. They were connected with the Fastolfs and Cleres. Persons of the same name resided in Yarmouth.—Per. of Yarm. iii. 199.

CLXXI. Argent, three pierced cinquefoils gules, Southwell.

In the sixteenth century the Southwells were resident at Woodrising, in the church of which remains a fine monument to Sir Richard Southwell, "a favourite of King Henry VIII." In 1546 Sir Robert Southwell, amongst others, was sent down to Yarmouth to determine a dispute between the town and the Paston family. In the seventeenth century persons of the same name were buried in the churchyard.—Per. of Yarm. i. 61, iii. 54.

CLXXII. Azure, a chevron ermine between three escallops argent, Townshend or Townsend.

Sir Roger Tounsend was another of the commissioners sent down from London in 1546. The family has often been very intimately connected with the town.—Per. of Yarm. i. 61.

CLXXIII. Per pale indented, azure and gules, a lion rampant or, armed and langued of the second, Drayton.

The name of this family occurs very frequently in the list of the Bailiffs and Mayors of Yarmouth in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries.

MSS.* 23740—23742; Dawson Turner's Sepulchral Reminiscences, Palmer's Perlustration of Great Yarmouth, and East Anglian Notes and Queries, 1st Series, vol. ii., pages 269, 283. The organ covers so large a space, both in the north and south chancel aisles, that doubtless many of the ledger stones here mentioned are beneath it.
